Big Boy Bearing Kit for 1997-05 Polaris 700/800 Crankshafts

The PTO end of your crankshaft is exposed to extreme stresses caused by sudden changes in traction, hard acceleration and heavy braking. It flexes and wears as these forces are applied. This Big Boy Kit increases the bearing surface area on the PTO end of your crankshaft by 30%, which makes the PTO end more rigid and improves crankshaft life. Beneficial for stock and modified engines. Your crankshaft and crankcase are required for this modification. Includes two bearings and a spacer for the PTO side.

Torque/Push Arms

SLP Engine Push Arm for Polaris (Recoil Front Side)

The high torque of the new twins creates an unwanted movement of the engine. SLP's Push Arm helps eliminate this problem by pushing from the right side shock tower to the front of the recoil. When used in conjunction with a torque arm, engine movement is nearly eliminated, keeping clutching efficiency optimized without increasing vibration. Proper clutch alignment under load means optimum clutching efficiency, which allows maximum transfer of horsepower to the ground.

SLP Engine Stabilizer Kit (pair) for Polaris 2005-06 700 (755)/900 Twins

Hold your engine securely in place with this engine stabilizer kit from SLP. This kit combines an SLP Torque Arm and SLP Push Arm to insure proper engine alignment for maximum performance and consistency. The SLP Torque Arm mounts on the PTO (clutch) side of the engine in the electric start mounting holes and pulls to the bulkhead. The SLP Push Arm mounts on the MAG (recoil) side of the engine and pushes from the bulkhead to the recoil housing. Both the SLP Torque Arm and Push Arm utilize special vibration absorbing products to limit vibration transferred to the chassis. Benefits include: substantially increased belt life, reduced belt and clutch heat, more horsepower transferred to the ground and more consistent performance from one condition to another.

Engine Torque Arm for Arctic Cat, Polaris and Ski-Doo

You experience better performance with the clutches in alignment. The SLP Torque Arm holds the engine in place to have consistent belt alignment. Less belt and clutch wear and belt heat is also a benefit. The arm is equipped with a damper to avoid transmitting vibration into the chassis.

Motor Mounts

"Super Stock" Motor Mounts for Polaris, Arctic Cat, Ski-Doo, and Yamaha

Using the finest available materials, the most modern bonding techniques have been used to construct these motor mounts. They are much stiffer than the factory supplied units. These mounts limit the amount of engine movement thereby keeping the clutches in alignment and decrease harmful vibration. The mounts are available in two different compounds (70 and 90 durometer.) 90 durometer is the harder rubber and is used in racing applications.
